Great Drawing Card is Enoch, the Wonderful.

Enoch continues to draw great crowds to his tent on the carnival grounds, and everybody is thoroughly pleased with the entertainment given. The exhibitions are wonderful and marvelous. All that is advertised and exploited is done by Enoch in a glass tank filled with thousands of gallons of water in full view of the audiences. Enoch is a wonder and water seems the natural element for him to perform his tricks and stunts in. All comments and criticisms of those who have attended his show have been favorable and flattering. Aside from his wonderful accomplishments, Enoch is an appropriate and witty entertainer, interspersing his entertainment with snappy jokes and bright sayings. All ladies and children should see the wonders performed by the amphibious monarch, Enoch. See Enoch, the sea fish, to-day and to-night, and you will not regret it.—Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald, Nov. 21, 1903.

Notice—Reward!

On Friday night, Dec. 25, in Madison, Fla., I lost one horse, black; will weigh 800 or 900 pounds, jump on left side of neck, one hind foot white. Horse about nine years old. Also a buggy, Valdosta make. For the return to me at Madison, Fla., or any information leading to the recovery of same, I will pay a reward of $25.00.

ALEX ZIPPERER.

Postmaster, Madison, Fla.

Lost Horse and Buggy.

Christmas night Albert Zipperer left his horse and buggy in the shed in the rear of the post office and went to his work getting up the mail. When he got ready to go home he found that the horse and buggy were gone, and since that time nothing has been seen of it by him. The horse was a small black pony with one white hind foot and a lump on the left side of neck. The buggy was manufactured in Valdosta. Reports have come to Mr. Zipperer that the horse and buggy were seen in Hamilton county in charge of a mulatto negro who stated that he was carrying same to Valdosta. That the negro stole the outfit there can be no doubt, and we hope that he may be apprehended and brought to justice.

In honor of her guests, Miss Brooks of Boston, Ga., and Miss Watts, of Lake City, Miss Pearl McCall entertained Friday night in the parlors of the Merchants Hotel. The ever popular game of Whist formed the chief amusement of the evening, and the elegant prizes were won by Miss Susie McCall and Mr. W. F. Parramore, while the "boobies" were captured by Miss S. A. Randall and Charlie Morrow. Delicious refreshments were served and the evening was one of rare enjoyment to the fortunate guests.

There is no wagon better than the Tennessee wagon. We have just received a carload of them, single and double, J. F. Lines Co.

Miss Clara Hardee was the charming hostess at a card party Monday evening at her home where had gathered the belles and beaux of Madison to while away the hours in the fascinating game of Whist. Sixteen couples were present, and the prizes for the most skillful playing were awarded to Miss Clara Coggins and Mr. S. Alex Smith. Miss Mamie Randall and Russell Taylor were consoled by the award of the booby prize. Elegant refreshments were served consisting of a delightful fruit punch, cakes, ices and other dainty things.

The sad information was received in town Monday morning of the death of Dr. J. Addie Townsend, which occurred at his home in Lake City Sunday night. Dr. Townsend was a native of Madison county, and many relatives here as well as friends mourn his untimely death. He was a young man in the prime of useful manhood, and his death falls heavily upon the stricken widow and four children. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Townsend, both of whom have died within the last year, and brother to Mrs. Robert S. McIntyre of this city. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family. The burial was at Lake City Monday afternoon.

The most delightful of all the holiday festivities was the grand ball given at the armory Christmas eve by the young men in honor of the visiting young ladies. Volini's orchestra from Jacksonville furnished the music for the occasion and it was of a high order. The floor was polished until it fairly shone, and the light-hearted dancers whiled away the hours until the early morning lightly tripping to the seductive strains of waltz and two step. The costumes of the ladies were elegant, and the gentlemen all looked their best in evening dress. At midnight an elegant collation was served of turkey, cakes, ices and other good things, and when the dancers finally dispersed they carried with them the recollection of an evening most charmingly and delightfully spent.
